Fentanyl + Other Drugs

Fentanyl, a synthetic opioid that is 50x stronger than heroin, is now found in many drugs including crack, cocaine, meth, pills (Xanax, Percs, Oxys) and K2. Fentanyl can cause an overdose when using these other drugs. Test your product with Fentanyl Test Strips, & always carry Narcan!

Overdose Prevention + Narcan

Don't Use Alone!

Overdoses are 100% preventable, as long as someone is there to help you.

Go Slow!

Your tolerance level can shift over a short time and the potency of street supply is always changing.

Carry Narcan!

Whether you use opioids or not, we can all save a life by being first responders to an overdose.

Narcan/Naloxone is available at most pharmacies, no prescription needed (costs vary by insurance). Fentanyl Test Strips let you know if fentanyl is in your product.

Tips for Safer Use

Use Clean Tools

New and sanitary supplies can decrease exposure to infectious diseases and germs. From new syringes to alcohol wipes before and after use, every little bit matters.

Protect Your Veins

Using small-gauged syringes, rotating injection sites, and staying hydrated are all helpful ways to keep your veins in better health.

Safely Dispose of Tools to Keep Others Safe

The city has many syringe disposal bins in El stations and other public locations. Plastic bottles also make great sharps containers.

When to seek Medical Care

Pain, swelling, and redness can be signs of an abscess or cellulitis, which usually require antibiotics to heal.

Shortness of breath, chest pains, sweats/chills can be signs of a more serious infection - seek hospital care!
